Current Decorating Trends fall into 7 categories

Decorating Den Interiors' Thornhill franchisee Jeanne Grier and her team are constantly on the look-out for new ideas for their clients. Apart from individual touches, they say that current decorating trends fall into seven categories, as described at a recent international conference.

One style is "Classic Tradition", depicting gracious Southern hospitality. Another is "Country Living", comfortable Canadiana, accented with sunflowers and denim. Even more casual is "Rustic Lodge", with its northern or western look of braided rugs, twig furniture and heavy textures.

At the other end of the spectrum is "Urban Contemporary", decorated with blonde woods, leather, and silver metallics. "Old World Opulence" is back, with columns, molding, and aging techniques applied to everything. For warmth, you'd be in "Tropical Moods", with its wicker and rattan in the British Colonial tradition. And lastly, your style might be "Eclectic Collections", with unmatched furniture, eclectic perhaps, but thoughtfully coordinated.

Do you recognize yourself?
